

School Value of the Week

What Great Looks Like at New Haw...Working Volume

This week, we have been focusing on the value of Responsibility and what this looks like in our classrooms through our learning behaviour, Working Volume.

Voices are expected to be at different volumes depending on what is happening. For example, during partner work and group work - use an indoor voice. The volume shouldn't stop the learning from happening!

We have also been thinking carefully about keeping chatter to a minimum when we are learning, listening carefully to instructions and staying focused on the task at hand. By taking responsibility for our own voices and actions, we help to create a calm, focused and kind working environment where everyone can learn and thrive.

Online Safety Corner

If your child uses an iPhone or iPad, Apple's latest software includes a number of new parental-control and safety features.

These include improved Screen Time controls, limits across categories of apps, website controls and additional Communication Safety protections.

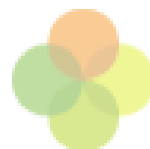

The short video below provides a useful overview, while Apple's own guidance explains how parents can set up and manage the controls in more detail.

Supporting Children with Additional Needs When Something Goes Wrong Online

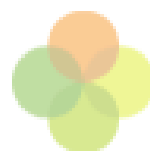

Children with additional needs may not always recognise when an online situation has become unsafe, or they may find it difficult to explain what has happened.

They may also communicate distress differently, become overwhelmed by questions or worry about losing access to a device or online activity that is particularly important to them.

This short video gives parents practical advice on supporting a child calmly when something has gone wrong online and helping them feel able to share what has happened.
